

Two Denegeration Techniques for Maps of Curves

Ozgur Ince

Abstract

We discuss the paper of Brian Osserman about theories of admissible covers (Harris-Mumford) and limit linear series (Eisenbud-Harris), two techniques for using degenerations to study maps between curves. While the theories are superficially very similar, they have certain fundamental differences which we will also explore.

Keywords

Covers, linear series.